Sheriff Patrols Still On at Night

The Crawford County Board of Commissioners' "no overtime" ruling has not caused the Sheriff Dept. to discontinue its night road patrols as of Monday, Nov. 20.

Sheriff Hatfield said some overtime has been used on weekends and during this first week of deer season, but that night road patrols have to date not been affected by the county's cutback.

The "no overtime" ruling was adopted by the Board of Commissioners at its October 10th meeting in an effort to stay within the 1989 budget. The commissioners later authorized overtime during Friday and Saturday nights, holidays, and the first week of deer season.

Celebration of Lights Begins November 24

Join the Grayling Promotional Association at the Crawford County Courthouse for the "Celebration of Lights" at 6 p.m. with Santa's arrival at 6:45 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Friday, November 24.

Santa Claus and his little elves, along with the snowman and (super stars) Mickey and Minnie Mouse would like to invite all children, young and old, to visit with Santa.

There will be gifts for the children, and Miss Grayling (Dawn Elekonich), and the elementary choir will be on hand to provide entertainment.

For those of you that may not be familiar with the "Celebration of Lights", it began in 1986. Members of the Grayling Promotional Association decided to welcome the Spirit of Christmas to Grayling by turning on all their holiday lights in businesses and homes alike on the same day.

Sheriff, Police Chief Share 60 Years of Experience

I-75, Drugs Have Changed Police Work in County Over the Years

I-75 and illegal drugs have changed law enforcement in Crawford County more than anything else, say two veteran police officers here.

Sheriff Harold Hatfield and Grayling Police Chief Peter Stephan, who have chalked up more than 60 years of police service to the residents of Crawford County, have both seen the changes that I-75 and illegal drugs have brought to our community.

"I-75 made Grayling a suburb of Saginaw, Bay City, and all the metropolitan areas of the south," said Hatfield. "Not only are we dealing with strangers when we answer complaints, but people can come up from downstate, rip off several cabins or summer residences (breaking and entering) and be back home by breakfast, long before we are even aware that we've been robbed," he said.

Stephan said that before I-75 was constructed and automobile transportation began expanding, Crawford County was a fairly contained rural community.

"Even the summer tourists were 'regulars' who, for the most part, owned summer residences at Lake Margrethe or on the AuSable and became a part of the community during their stay," he explained.

During the 1950's and 60's Stephan said he knew probably 95 percent of Crawford County's residents. Now he said he knows less than 50 percent.

"Knowing everyone had its advantages and its disadvantages," he said. "Getting a complaint about a bar fight involving a particular pulpwood cutter," he said, "would tell me straight off that I was in for a tussle."

The advantage was that for the most part an officer knew the atmosphere of the situation before he got there, and Stephan said there were few surprises.

"You knew there were not going to be any knives or guns," he said. "You knew that nobody was going to be waiting in the background to shoot you in the back when you stepped inside the door." But this all changed in the 1960's when drugs found their way to Grayling.

DRUGS BIGGEST PROBLEM

"Almost every complaint or crime we are now involved in is drug related," said Hatfield. "Certainly not all, but the vast majority. If not drugs," he said, "then alcohol."

Hatfield described the drug problem in Crawford County as serious, and said that as a law enforcement officer, a citizen, a father and a grandfather he does not want to see the legalization of drugs.

"I don't care if we are losing the battle," he said, "I think we should go down fighting if nothing else."

Stephan said he believes that society will continue to lose the battle against illegal drugs until the judicial system begins penalizing law violators so severely that they have a genuine fear of being caught.

"Today, with prison overcrowding and overflowing court dockets, they know they are going to be back on the street in short time." He continued, "It may be weeks or months before they go to court, if they go at all."

HATFIELD'S EARLY YEARS

Both veteran officers began their law enforcement careers as patrolmen for the Grayling City Police Department.

Hatfield was hired on July 10, 1952, at the age of 28. He worked 27½ years with the city, 20 of those years as police chief, and has begun his third term as county sheriff. During his first year of service, he earned an annual salary of $2,340 and for this he worked 13 days straight and then had one day off.

"There were only two officers, myself and

"I-75 made Grayling a suburb of Saginaw, Bay City, and all the metropolitan areas of the south."

Sheriff Hatfield

Jack Papendick, who was Chief," he explained. "We worked 12 hour shifts, eight we were paid for and four we worked or were 'on call' for free." Hatfield said he worked that schedule for about eight years. He said it was rare to sleep through the night without having to get up and go out to assist one of his officers.

Hatfield said Papendick was home sick for most of the first week after he had been hired.

"I hid out for most of that week," Hatfield continued on page 5

'68 Motorcycle Gang Shooting Was Most Explosive Situation

The 1968 motorcycle gang incident was the most dangerous situation local police agencies have had to face, according to the two senior county law enforcement officers, Sheriff Harold Hatfield and City Police Chief Peter Stephan.

The incident involved a riot at the old AuSable Bar with some local men and a Detroit area motorcycle gang that led to a Grayling man shooting and killing one of the cyclists.

Stephan, then an auxiliary officer for the city, said Hatfield knew he had a potential problem brewing and had called to ask if he would be available (on call). A short time later, Stephan said Hatfield pulled up in front of his home.

The two officers were crossing James Street Bridge when the shooting occurred.

"Pete and I were at the scene first and held the situation for what seemed like an hour and a half," said Hatfield, "but it was probably more like four minutes ... until Tom Broom and Larry Yoder (city officers) arrived."

Stephan remembers arriving at the AuSable Bar and finding one man lying dead on the pavement and the Grayling man backed up against the wall of Tip-Toc-Togs with 12 to 15 motorcycle people trying to get at him. Hatfield took the gun from the Grayling man and he and Pete held the violent group at bay. Each of them had a shotgun.

"We had back-up coming from the Sheriff Department," Stephan said, "but back-up then compared to today was not that great."

Hatfield said Broom leaned down over the cyclist laying on the ground and then came to him and whispered, "Chief, he's dead."

"Let on that you think he is alive," Hatfield whispered back.

When the ambulance arrived Hatfield said to the attendant, Derek McEvers, "He's dead, but make believe he is alive."

About the time the ambulance had whisked the victim away, Hatfield said his back-up from the Sheriff Dept. began arriving.

"The deputies all had shotguns," he said, "and I began to feel we had the situation under control."

Hatfield said there were too many suspects to transport by car so he told Stephan to walk them to the old jail that was located where the Grayling State Bank is now.

"We started off walking in single file," said Stephan, "George Bielski, Jr., and Yoder were with me," he recalled, "as we rounded the corner by Miller's Hardware (now the Half-Price Outlet) I heard a chain rattle."

Stephan said he was armed with a legal-size sawed off 12 gauge shotgun. When he heard the chain he said he put the muzzle of the gun behind the motorcyclist's ear and said, "Drop it."

Hatfield said the cyclists asked Stephan what he meant and Stephan said "Drop it or I'll blow your head off," as he pulled back on the hammer of his shotgun. When the cyclist heard the "click", he dropped a link of chain about 44 inches long that the cyclist later said was used to chain his motorcycle to a tree.

McNamara Bags Biggest Buck

Riley McNamara, 22, of Grayling, won the 1989 Buck Pole Contest grand prize for bagging a 10 point buck, the largest rack hung during the two day contest. The prize was a 110 Savage 270 rifle with scope.

Forty-five bucks were hung on the Buck Pole at Skip's Sport Shop last Wednesday and Thursday.

"Everyone who hangs a buck is a winner here," said Gail Madsen, wife of 'Skip', owner and operator of the shop. "Every hunter who hangs a buck wins at least $10."

Bill Brooks, of Grayling, was the first hunter to hang his buck on opening day and won two $50 U.S. Savings Bonds. The next nine hunters won a $50 bond. These included: Ross McDonald, Jackson; Dave Donaldson, Utica; Randy Allison, Grayling; Daniel Doyle, Taylor; Dave Reynolds, South Boardman; Don Morgan, Adrian; Bill Weaver, Jr., Grayling; Barry McClanahan, Grayling and Ron Vradenburg, Grayling.

Fifty dollar bonds were also awarded to Larry Pratt, Jr., of Grayling, who hung the heaviest buck, 161 pounds, Ross McDonald, 70, of Jackson, the oldest hunter and Randy Allison, 15, of Grayling, the youngest hunter.

For the first time that Skip and Gail can remember, a woman did not hang a buck on opening day.

A Bill Burrick carving was awarded to Rodney Lobsinger, of Grayling, for hanging the smallest buck.

On Thursday, Bill Lucksted, of Grayling, hung the first buck. The next nine hunters were: Jan Banfill, Plainwell; Lloyd Crawford, Grayling; Robert L. Shepherd, Traverse City; Dustin

Motorists Should Pack Winter Survival Kit

An empty coffee can, candle and newspapers don't conjure up warm images but the three items could be lifesavers if you're stranded this winter, according to AAA Michigan.

Those items should be included in a winter survival kit for your car, advises Robert Tellier, AAA Michigan Emergency Road Service manager.

"The dozen or so items in the survival kit take up little room in your trunk but are essential during a winter emergency," Tellier said.

The winter survival kit should contain:

- Empty coffee can, candle, and matches or lighter for a small scale furnace to generate heat.

- Newspapers make great insulation when placed between skin and clothing.

- Carpet strips to place under drive wheels for traction.

- Shovel and pet litter which, when spread under the wheels, improves traction.

Boots, ice scraper and brush, flares and reflectors, jumper cables, tool kit, flashlight, first aid kit, candy bars and a blanket also should be part of the kit.

If stranded, motorists should stay with their car rather than risk exposure walking for help, Tellier said.

Tips to Steer Clear Of Winter Skidding

Skids on icy roads can be easily corrected if drivers don't hit the brakes and remember a few simple steps, according to AAA Michigan.

Hard acceleration or braking, speed too fast for conditions, and quick, jerky movements of the steering wheel are the primary causes of skids.

The best way to avoid skidding is to reduce speed in advance of curves, turns or when changing lanes and make smooth, precise movements of the steering wheel.

But if you do experience a skid, don't panic, hit the brakes or jerk the steering wheel. Instead, use gentle steering movements to regain control.

For a rear-wheel skid, AAA Michigan recommends:

- De-clutch on a car with manual transmission. On a car with automatic transmission, take your foot off the gas pedal and shift to neutral (should be practiced). This will equally distribute the power to all four wheels.

- Steer in the direction you want the front of the car to go.

- Just before the rear wheels stop skidding, counter-steer until you are going in the desired direction.

(Drivers of rear-wheel drive cars should be prepared for a possible rear-wheel skid in the opposite direction if they over-correct for the initial skid.)

- Release the clutch or shift to "drive" and gently accelerate to a safe speed.

For a front-wheel

- De-clutch with a manual; take your foot off the accelerator (and shift to neutral) with an automatic.

- Wait for the front wheels to grip the road again, then steer in the desired direction of travel.

- Release the clutch or shift to "drive" and gently accelerate to a safe speed.

Letters to the Editor

Reader Says We Must Fight For Right to be Healthy

This past summer, USA TODAY ran a series of articles entitled "The Chemicals Next Door."

It is unfortunate that the citizens of Crawford County either didn't read them, wouldn't read them or couldn't read these very descriptive facts about what is happening to this earth, the only planet we've got to live on for the time being.

TIME MAGAZINE and NEWSWEEK have had recent cover stories on this frightening situation. Even "Murphy Brown" and "The Return Of McCloud" TV shows have concerned themselves with the environmental issues and the rapid destruction of Mother Earth. The earth is everyone's backyard!

By doing nothing to stop the Georgia-Pacific formaldehyde plant, which G-P wants to build next door to the already polluting plants in Beaver Creek township, this beautiful county, home of what used to be 2 of the finest trout streams in the nation, has allowed the further destruction of our air and planet.

I quote a letter to the editor of USA TODAY in response to their articles about the desecration of the quality of life and the planet we live on.

"The article 'The Chemicals Next Door,' presents a very clear picture of the pollution being produced. My head fell to the desk when I saw the amount of toxins pumped into our environment. At least the communities are starting to become aware of the situation," (but not in Grayling or Crawford County!)

"These companies are gambling with the safety of human lives. Why are the people allowing them to continue doing so?" That letter was written by Arthur Lee Morgan IV, St. Louis.

That is a very good question, Mr. Morgan. Why indeed are the people who live in and love this area not standing up to the polluters and polluting industry? You may not die instantly from the poisons in the air and water, but respiratory illnesses, birth defects, cancer, and chronic diseases are just a few of the ailments that may be caused by air-born pollutants.

Poison your own body - that's your business. Poison the earth and no one including your children will have any place to live. Until we find a better planet to move to and a way to get there, we really should take better care of the only place we have to live.

You can still stop the formaldehyde plant! Contact your city and township commissioners. Call the DNR. Write letters. Tell them you want to appeal the Michigan Air-Control Board's decision to issue an air permit. It is not too late. Gaylord was able to stop the plant there. Grayling can also stop it.

Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.'s health study of the 50 states ranked Michigan 50th - the worst in the nation. There is no place to go but up. Won't you fight for your right to be healthy? Do you really want to live in the unhealthiest state in the country?

Voters send mixed signals

IT'S BACK TO the drawing boards for solutions to Michigan's mounting problems of equity and quality in local education.

Elected leaders in Lansing couldn't make up their own minds on what to do, so they went to the voters with two different plans for higher taxes and more money for schools.

"Here you are, voters," they said, in effect. "Take your pick."

It's little wonder the voters said "no, thanks" to both Proposals A and B in the Nov. 7 election.

Proposal A would have raised the sales tax by a half-cent and sent the money to local schools; Proposal B would have raised the sales tax by two cents, sent some money to schools, and lowered property taxes with the rest.

Neither idea flew with the voters. So it's back to square one for education.

WHAT HAPPENED ON Nov. 7?

The voters sent mixed signals. That's because they were answering a mixed bag of questions.

Did they say they were satisfied with the way things are? Did they say they're satisfied with the quality of education our students receive? Did they say local schools are getting enough money?

Did they say it's all right if one school district can put only $2,000 or so into education of each child, while another school district can pay $8,000 or more for the same purpose? Did they say that the level of property taxes is all right?

Few election observers would contend that voters said any of these things, although all of these issues were involved one way or another in the proposals.

What the voters did say was "no new taxes" ... even for schools ... at least not now ... at least not like this.

SEVERAL FACTORS helped sway voters' decisions, it seems to me.

Foremost was the state lottery. Most people believe that when they approved a state lottery, our education finance problems were over - or at least, hugely reduced, - because the millions and millions of lottery profits would go to schools, which they do.

But legislators, in their wisdom, have opted to reduce state general fund support of schools because of the influx of lottery dollars. A lottery dollar going into school aid has resulted in another state dollar going out. Many voters felt deceived, and feared the same thing would happen again.

This has led to a general mistrust of public officials who handle school dollars. If the state politicians trick us once, as they did on the lottery, they can do it again with the sales tax increase ... at least, that's what many voters fear.

Many voters feel that the decisions should be made by the governor and the legislature, and not passed back to the voters; and if these state officials, who ostensibly spend all their time and energies on such matters, cannot agree on what should be done, why should voters shoulder the burden of decision?

Of course, there is a genuine dislike of taxes. Many voters feel that somewhere within the huge Michigan state budget, there simply must be some waste which could be eliminated ... some ineffective programs which could be dropped ... some squeezing which could be done. In other words, if the state really wants to help local education, it can do so without new taxes.

SOME INTERESTING political sidelights emerge from the Nov. 7 election, too.

Forces lined up behind Proposal A were formidable. Led by Gov. James Blanchard, they included the MEA and UAW, as well as most of the politically active arms of big business. They spent some $3 million in their campaign, including a publicity blitz of TV advertising and direct mail.

Most notable group in opposition was the Chamber of Commerce, as well as most Senate Republicans led by Sen. John Engler. Mr. Blanchard's likely election foe next year. Their spending was slight in comparison to the pro-A armada.

One conclusion possible is that even heavy spending, and a formidable lobby, cannot pass a bad idea ... and the school proposals at this time and in this place were bad ideas. The voters said so.

With 1990 being an election year, chances are school financing will be the subject of more political sound and fury than genuine attempts at sound solution.

With Gov. Blanchard and Sen. Engler leading the way, voters can be certain they will hear a lot more about educators as the 1990 election nears.

Program Can Provide Affordable Homes

I just had the privilege of reading through the Habitat for Humanity Manual. It's an amazing program that provides affordable homes for persons that could never afford them, a program that can be seen working as close as Traverse City and has attracted people as former President Jimmy Carter; he helped build twenty homes in Georgia in one week and fourteen in North Carolina in five days.

Best of all it doesn't use government funds, tax monies, doesn't hurt profits of local builders and does add dollars to the local economy. I'm looking forward to the meeting December 5th to find out more.

To make it work it takes ministers who know the value of prayer, attorneys who know the law, insurance men who know insurance, all sorts of volunteers to lick stamps, fold letters and make coffee. Above all we need people that have very little money but want their own home and are willing to work at it.

Families Thankful For Spiritual Healing

During the Thanksgiving season many families will be expressing gratitude for the protection and healing which can come from turning to be grateful. A young boy was thrown from a bicycle and knocked unconscious. A physician examined him at the scene and reported possible skull fracture and concussion of the brain.

Through the family's reliance on prayer, the boy was healed within several days and resumed normal activities, including bike-riding. Throughout the world, Christian Scientists will be expressing gratitude this Thanksgiving Day for similar blessings in their own families.

The experiences of these families illustrate the availability of God's loving care for all mankind. This tender cherishing comes through in the Bible readings for this year's Thanksgiving service in Christian Science churches. This week is also National Bible

Week in the United States, and the rich imagery of both the Old and New Testaments speaks of the tender relationship between God and man.

Members of The Christian Science Society of Houghton Lake, 108 James Street offer a service of Thanksgiving to the community on Thursday, November 23rd, 10:30 a.m.

As an important part of the service, time will be given for spontaneous sharing from the congregation.

These testimonies frequently include gratitude for spiritual healings that have occurred sometimes through four and five generations. Healing children, difficult home relations, and other family issues are often at the core of an individual's gratitude.

Local members of the Christian Science church warmly invite the community to join them in giving thanks to God this Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, November 23.

Let's Talk About It

By Joe Murphy

A drive around our city on Monday morning reveals the magnitude of the problem of waste disposal we face today. It seems that about every home produces at least two bags of trash a week. The huge volume of trash and garbage produced in our nation each day defies concept by the human mind. Every thing today seems to be packaged in a manner that produces the greatest volume of trash.

Take milk for an example, a few years ago it was bottled in returnable bottles and produced only the little cardboard bottle top as trash. Then came the cardboard containers that added much to the trash problem. Now we have the plastic milk jugs that are a real problem both in volume and lasting qualities.

One of the best laws that has been passed in the State of Michigan was the bottle return law. That law has done much in helping to reduce the trash along our roads. Of course the vendors and the manufacturers of both the product and its containers fought the passage of the bottle laws tooth and nail. I don't see many vendors refusing to sell beverages or companies going broke because of the burdens placed on them by the law.

Convenience is one of the most overworked words in modern advertising it seems that it takes priority over quality. Convenience in most cases . . . we just throw it away. Think of all the things we use today that when they fall we throw in the trash. Remember the old fountain pens that you refilled when they ran out of ink, now we all carry ball points that wind up in the trash. Many foods are packaged in heat and serve containers that go in the trash.

A drive in the woods shows where many people are getting rid of their trash today. Old washers, dryers, stoves, T.V.s, tires and such are there to add their beauty to our woods. Out of sight, out of mind, is not the answer to the problems we face in disposing of our trash today.

Perhaps before we are buried in our own trash, common sense will prevail and ways will be found to supply our needs without producing all the trash we have today. I guess I'd better get off my soapbox for now.

It seems strange to go up town this close to deer season and not see the red coated horde of hunters we saw back years ago. Now there are not many hunters for they have better hunting down state than we have here. All of the plantings of pines have pretty well ruined our hunting. There is no way with all that cover to get the deer moving like it used to be. I haven't seen enough deer in the last ten years to compare with one day back in the forties.

By Nancy Lemmen
Avalanche Columnist

I recently received my copy of the premier issue of a magazine. It's GARBAGE! Really. GARBAGE is the name of a new magazine.

It's editor and publisher, Patricia Poole, says that GARBAGE is unlike any other environmental magazine I'll ever see: "It's independent. It's practical. It's got a sense of humor. It's written as much for people who never leave the city as for wilderness backpackers. We all live on the same planet."

Reactions to the magazine's title vary, as expressed by readers in the "Letters" section: One person writes, "No pun intended, I think the time is ripe for a magazine called GARBAGE." However, another protests, "I . . . have no idea who your marketing people are, but you ought to fire a lot of them for even suggesting such a ludicrous name for a magazine."

Poole explains her choice. "The magazine named itself. When the staff was gearing up for this new project, we found ourselves referring to it as 'the garbage magazine.' I guess that was easier to say than 'the environmental magazine' - and more to the point."

She continues, "We knew our magazine would, at the core, be about waste: wasteful habits, waste of resources, waste that pollutes and enters the food chain . . . In other words, garbage."

Here are some of the things I learned while flipping through the "GARBAGE Index":

*The per-person per-day household garbage production in New York City is nearly four times that of Kano, Nigeria.

*The amount of trash generated per person per day in the United States will have risen from 2.5 pounds in 1980 to a projected 4.25 pounds in 2000.

*The largest single component of solid waste in landfills is newspapers at 14% (by volume).

*American drivers generated 246.9 million scrap tires in 1988.

*Americans also threw away 2 billion razors and blades and 1.6 billion pens.

*Here's where its sense of humor kicks in: American plastic surgeons disposed of 27 million cubic centimeters of liposuctioned human fat in 1986.

*Americans dispose of 89% (140.8 million tons) of our trash via landfills or incineration. We recycle 11% (18.9 million tons).

In a short feature on toxic air emissions, I see that Michigan ranks a nasty 6th in the nation, with 116.4 millions of pounds. (By comparison, Texas is 1st, with 239.0 and Nevada is last, with 0.7).

Here's a term I learned from the GARBAGE Dictionary: "black mayonnaise." It's the toxic sludge found on the bottoms of harbors, bays, and oceans, often extending for miles, consisting of undecayed sediment, sewage, and petrochemical wastes.

"What is happening underwater. . . is not for the squeamish. Scuba divers talk of swimming through clouds of toilet paper and half-dissolved feces, of bay bottoms covered by a . . . sediment. . . appropriately know as black mayonnaise."

GARBAGE's "Lifting the Lid" section includes an Alar update: Briefly, tests run by Unilever, Alar's manufacturer, show that the chemical poses a cancer risk 50 times greater than acceptable levels. The company has voluntarily agreed to halt its sale for food use and to recall Alar products already purchased by farmers.

But that still leaves some Alar-treated apples and apple products (the EPA reported in June that five to 15 percent of the apple crop is Alar sprayed) on supermarket shelves. Final carcinogenicity tests will be completed in 1990, at which time the EPA will decide whether or not to ban Alar for good.

I also learned that: *Union Carbide, of the Bhopal, India, 1984 pesticide plant disaster, has compensated only 777 of its 3,400 fatal victims (200,000 others were injured) with typical settlements of $200.

*The U.S. Department of Energy calculates that it will cost tax payers $100 billion to clean up hazardous and radioactive waste at 16 nuclear-weapons plants which the department oversees.

*People are still fuming about the Exxon Valdez oil spill. Business and environmental groups are filing suits against Exxon and the federal government, demanding among other things more money for cleaning up the spill.

And on and on. I liked GARBAGE. I liked the staff's evenhanded treatment of the issues. I liked Poole's premise that American attitudes toward garbage can (and will) change.

She believes that we know "quite well that we're fouling our own nest. We want to get off the consume-it/trash-it treadmill."

I hope she's right. I hope we change our attitudes - and more importantly, our lifestyles - before we find ourselves drowning in our own garbage.

Sheriff Hatfield

fessed, "because I didn't know what to do."

Later he said Lt. Charles Duncan of the Saginaw Police Department, who had come up for a fishing trip, rode with Hatfield for three days and trained him. Every time Duncan came to Grayling after that he rode with Hatfield and continued his training. He said Duncan supplied him with manuals, law books and forms.

Papendick was elected sheriff in 1952 and took office in January, 1953, and Hatfield was promoted to chief.

Besides being police chief, Hatfield was also sexton for the cemetery and Stephen remembers the city police selling grayhound tickets.

Hatfield said that during the early years there was a different approach to law enforcement in Crawford County.

"When I was hired," he said, "we were to protect the people even if they were drunkards or fighters." Consideration was given to the welfare of a man's family, and many 'breaks' were given. Whenever possible they sent people home to sleep off their "one-too-many."

"Once we got the individual outside the bar and sorted out what the problem was we usually had someone take them home, or we took them home ourselves," he said. "If we had arrested everyone who deserved to be arrested," Hatfield stated, "my files would be full."

Until the increase in the county's drug problem occurred in the late 1980's Hatfield said he had only incarcerated two women. He said women were given summons and warrants to appear in court, but they were not put in jail.

"No matter what kind of hell a woman might raise on Friday or Saturday night," stated Hatfield, "she was either already a mother or was going to become a mother sometime in the future and we tried to protect her reputation. Hatfield said even the court system took this into consideration when it came time for sentencing.

In spite of the more "Andy Taylor, Mayberry" type of policing, Hatfield said he always dreaded going into a bar to settle a problem or confront a family dispute or check a suspicious situation.

"But I knew that was what I was hired to do," he said, "so I went. There is no glory hound, Captain Midnight or Batman in me," he continued. "I am human and I used to dread every confrontation."

CLEANING A BAR OUT

One of Hatfield's more humorous Saturday night barroom encounters happened at Smiggin's Diggins in 1953.

Hatfield said he and Patrolman Art Clough received a complaint of a fight at the Digs. When they arrived at Smiggin's they found a woman in her late 50's or early 60's cleaning the bar out.

"She had been a berry picker in the Traverse City area and had strong hands," he said. "She had almost torn the bartender's shirt off and the barmaid's clothes were torn, too."

The two officers finally got the old woman outside where by this time a crowd of about 50 people had gathered. Hatfield told Clough to disburse the crowd while he talked to the woman.

"Well," said Hatfield, "in no time I discovered I had a wildcat by the tail, as the little old lady began cleaning my clock."

"Art! Art! come over here and help me," I yelled," he said.

It took both men to subdue the woman and three officers to get her into a jail cell.

"We got in touch with her boyfriend and told him if he could get the woman out of Crawford County and keep her out we wouldn't press charges," he said.

The boyfriend agreed, but Hatfield said the woman shouted obscenities out the car window all the way out of town.

"The old lady didn't have a tooth in her mouth," smiled Hatfield, "but when we had finished with her I found gum marks in the sleeve of my leather jacket."

Hatfield said he could remember when officers would have taken a domestic dispute over a bar fight.

"You might have a lot of yelling and shouting," he said, "but he didn't have to figure on getting a split lip during the call. Now it's different," he continued. "Domestics have become much more violent."

"Domestic complaints have always scared the hell out of me," said Stephan.

STEPHAN'S EARLY YEARS

Stephan was hired in October, 1958, when he was 21 years old, and except about six years between 1955 and 1971 when he found he could not survive financially on a patrolman's salary, he has served as a patrolman or chief of police with the city. Stephan said when he was hired, he received an annual salary of $3,200.

"I was sworn in, given a badge, a gun belt, holster, a gun and a city ordinance book," he said. "Then I rode with the chief for a couple of weeks before I went out on my own."

As a young officer, having been born and raised in Grayling, Stephan said one of the most difficult problems he had to overcome was trying to arrest a resident of the county who had known him when he was still running around in diapers.

"With very few tourists at that time, the people I dealt with were members of the community, much more so than today," he explained. "Some of them resented me exercising the authority I represented because they could remember me as a toddler."

Many a donnybrook, was broken up at the Smiggin's Diggins bar, now called the Sawmill. Stephan said he remembered receiving a call of a fight in progress in front of the bar. When he arrived, he found a crowd gathered in the middle of Michigan Avenue and he said he could hear loud voices.

"When I stepped through the crowd," he recalled, "I found a man drunker than hell lying flat on his back on the road shadow boxing. As I walked up to the man he looked up at me and said, 'and I'll fight you too officer if you want some.'"

Hatfield and Stephan agreed that the 1988 motorcycle gang shooting was the most dangerous situation (see related story) they have encountered and that the 1975 Bear Archery strike was the most damaging situation to the community.

Stephan said he watched Crawford County rip itself wide open and many of those scars, while they may have healed over, are still capable of festering, given the right opportunity. He said the strike split families, pitting brother against brother.

"I will never understand why the city fathers, the commissioners and councilmen didn't form a group including area clergy, bankers and businessmen and let both sides at Bear Archery know that they did not want the bitterness to continue," said Hatfield. "A smaller group of the more brilliant business minds could possibly have helped sort out their labor problems."

LAW ENFORCEMENT TODAY

"Law enforcement is more professional now," said Hatfield. "The days of the old village marshal or village police department is gone. When I was hired," he explained, "I had absolutely no training or experience. Not even a police manual." Today, he said, an officer must be certified by the State of Michigan before he will even be considered for a position.

Has all the guff been worth while?

Stephan said that every once in a while an officer has an opportunity to make a difference in a person's life. He spoke of Officer Karl DeVries and Deputy Art Clough who recently received a call that a one month old infant at Glens Market had stopped breathing. One officer performed CPR on the infant from the market to the hospital while the other officer drove the baby and his mother to Mercy Hospital. Soon after they arrived, the baby began to cry, breathing on its own.

"Every once in a while we have an opportunity to really help," said Stephan, "which makes up for all the times drunks puke on our shoes."

Hatfield said that watching a young person, who for whatever reason had come to cross purposes with the law, straighten himself out and go on to live a productive life has made the trip worth taking.

'68 Motorcycle Gang

"I had made up my mind that if he took another step I was going to shoot," Stephan said. "That was the closest that I have ever come to taking a human life."

"If Pete had been asleep," said Hatfield, "and the cyclist had whipped the chain around Pete, we might have lost control of the situation."

Hatfield said they finally got the group to the jail and took their statements. Soon afterward that they were bonded out, but not without threatening to return and "level the town" in retaliation.

The following Wednesday, the day of the cyclist's funeral, Hatfield said he received word from the State Police that they had lost track of about 100 motorcyclists after the funeral, and that they might be on their way to Grayling.

They never showed up, but the towns folk took the threats seriously and took positions on the roof tops of many of the downtown businesses and waited for the gang's arrival.

"We had more problems with our locals carrying firearms than any potential problems we had with the motorcyclists," said Stephan. He said the police confiscated numerous guns from automobiles and later returned them when the situation had cooled down.

Rumors that the motorcyclists were headed north occurred several times between the shooting and the trial. These threats were renewed after the trial, when a local jury found the Grayling man innocent.

Stephan said the benefit the department got from the support of the residents let the motorcyclists know they were going to have to deal with more than just the law enforcement agencies here.

During the trial Hatfield said he tried to prepare for any event. He said he had every available city officer, sheriff deputy and auxiliary officer armed in and around the courthouse in an effort to keep the potentially volatile situation under control.

"That was a bad one," Hatfield stated. "It was a real tinder box."

Conflicts with other Detroit motorcycle gangs after the funeral kept the gang from returning to Grayling and their disorganization also prevented the group from retaliating.

The Detroit gang did return to Grayling once following the shooting, but Hatfield said he was able to convince them to leave before there was trouble.

"PARENTHOOD" IS A FUNNY, TOUCHING EXPERIENCE THAT WILL SWEEP YOU AWAY. ★★★★★ (HIGHEST RATING)

It is great...with laughs that are big and joyous. An exceptional comedy!

★★★★★ (HIGHEST RATING)

"Parenthood" is a wonderful film. It's the best kind of comedy where we recognize the truth of what's happening even while we're smiling. It's a triumph for Ron Howard.

"Ten laughs, then you find you have a lump in your throat. 'Parenthood' is a movie whose emotional range is close to 'Terms of Endearment'."

"A 10. 'Parenthood' is the funniest, most wonderful adult family."

"TWO THUMBS UP FOR 'PARENTHOOD'!"

Kmart Food Baskets To Help Less Fortunate At Thanksgiving

The Kmart associates at the Grayling Kmart store are busy preparing food baskets for the less fortunate families in our community for Thanksgiving.

On Tuesday, Nov. 21, the Grayling Kmart will be participating in a nationwide Kmart Good News Program. In preparation for the Kmart food basket program, employees will be collecting and packaging canned goods and other food items.

Joe Hembling, store manager, said that other area businesses and organizations are donating money or food to sponsor families. People have been contacted from both Crawford and Roscommon counties. "We wanted to work together with area communities to make sure those in need have enjoyable Thanksgiving dinners this year." Because of the wonderful response we received from various individuals, local businesses from Crawford and Roscommon counties and also Kmart employees in previous years, we wanted to continue this community program."

The Grayling Kmart is one of over 2,100 Kmart's participating in this nationwide Good News Committee program. Good News Committees are organized by employee volunteers in each store. The committees are actively involved in year-round outreach programs in the communities surrounding their Kmart stores.

The Grayling Kmart employs 98 people and is one of 187 Kmart's in Michigan.

The following businesses and organizations gave contributions to help make sure those in need have an enjoyable Thanksgiving dinner:

St. Marys Catholic Church, Seventh Day Advent Church, Grayling, Moores Automotive, D. & J. Auto Sales, Hospitality House Motel, Chief Shoppenagon Motor Lodge, Wurtsmith Community Federal, Credit Union, Grayling State Bank, Customs Forest Products, A.J.D. Forest Products, Jack Milliken Inc., Stephan's Wood Products, Ivy Girl, Kathleen Plus, Old Kent Bank-Grayling Branch, Chemical Bank North, Huffman Excavating, NBD Roscommon Bank, and North Central Area Credit Union.

Four New Members Join Girl Scouts

Girl Scout Troop #2000 had an Investiture and Rededication ceremony on November 9th. Four new members were welcomed into Girl Scouting and seven girls from last year were rededicated. The girls received their first two Try-Its which they have earned at their Thursday meetings since September. The new Brownies also received their troop numbers and identification strips. All of these items were paid for by the troop's sponsor, Georgia-Pacific.

The Brownies in Troop #2000 are delivering their cookies now. Theirs was the top-selling troop in Crawford County. Amy Stevenson sold the most cookies in the group.

Co-Op Nursery Children Enjoy Field Trips

Grayling Co-op Nursery School started the year with two fun field trips. The first was to Camp AuSable, where they took a wagon ride and sang songs led by Dave Holzbauer. They enjoyed refreshments, compliments of Camp AuSable.

Their second outing was to the Grayling Fire Department. It was a beautiful fall day, so the children walked back to school after their tour. They were shown the fire trucks and received information on fire safety.

The students of Grayling Co-op Nursery daily enjoy singing, finger plays, craft projects, snack time, and socialization with peers. For more information on the school or to enroll a 3 or 4 year-old child, call Eileen Papendick at 348-8851.

WINNERS CIRCLE

With Michigan Lottery prizes averaging more than $12 million a week, recent reader questions have asked for more details.

Q. How Much Was Won In The Past Year?

A. During the Lottery fiscal year which ended on September 30, winnings totaled more than $643 million. Included is the full value of prizes being awarded over the next 20 years to 58 Super Lotto jackpot winners.

Q. How Many Prizes Were Awarded?

A. There were more than 24 million, or the equivalent of nearly three for every resident in the state.

Q. Do Daily Games Have A Lot Of Winners?

A. During the year, the Daily 3 had nearly 1.5 million winners with prizes up to $500 totaling more than $166 million. With prizes up to $5,000, the Daily 4 added some $80 million more shared by 214,863 winners.

Q. How Many Have Won Zinger Prizes?

A. In just over six months of Zinger drawings, there were 397,287 winners sharing prizes worth more than $18 million. Top prizes of $100,000 went to 39 players who had perfect matches of the six-digit Zinger number.

Q. How Much Was The Average Jackpot Award?

A. The average for jackpot winners in the last fiscal year was $3,289,534 with the highest individual award $11,297,308.

Q. Why Are These Paid Over 20 Years?

A. To offer larger jackpots and provide more money to winners. A share of Lotto sales dollars is assigned to a jackpot prize pool and the total amount invested. Winners receive all of this plus all the interest it earns over the 20 years. With this payment system, jackpot prizes would be a great deal smaller.

Q. With All These Small Prizes, How Much Was Won Playing Instant Games?

A. Those small prizes, plus the larger ones, added up to more than $91 million in instant game prizes during the fiscal year.

Q. How Many New Cars Have Been Won On The Weekly Televised Game Show?

A. In the 36 "Fame & Fortune" game shows conducted during the fiscal year, 37 cars worth a total of $549,393 were won. The number continues to grow with four more won in the first four weeks of the new fiscal year.

For submitting the first question leading to this column, Betty Kingera of Gladwin will receive 50 "Fame & Fortune" tickets. If you have a question not yet covered in this monthly column, send it to "Winners Circle," Michigan Lottery, P.O. Box 38077, Lansing, MI 48909.

Note: When duplicate questions are received, the one with the earliest date stamp upon arrival at Lottery office wins. In cases of a tie, the winner is selected by random drawing.

Brownies Visit Post Office

The Brownie troop # 2016 went on a tour at the Grayling Post Office Nov. 7th. They were working on a Try It Patch called "It's a Small World" and they wanted to see how the mail reaches other places. On Oct. 3rd they also toured the Grayling State Bank. The girls were told about the safes, computers and what a safety deposit box was used for.

The Brownies who went to both places for the tours were Stephanie Wichert, Jamie Anderson, April Gosling, Tracy Mowrey, Angela Cojocar, Gretchen Goeckerman, Michelle Tennant, Jamie Pelka, also Mandy Trudgeon, Emily Weaver and Sara Bassett. Their leader is Bev Wichert and co-leader is Amanda Murray.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Intent To Issue An Emergency Operating License For Hazardous Waste Management

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (MDNR) hereby gives notice of its intent to issue a Michigan Public Act 64 emergency operating license to the Michigan Department of Military Affairs (MDMA). The license will allow the MDMA to conduct emergency treatment activities for the disposal of unserviceable ordnance at the Camp Grayling Military Reservation in Grayling, Michigan. This notice is given in accordance with R 299.9501 of the Act 64 administrative rules.

When an imminent and substantial endangerment to human health or the environment exists, the MDNR may issue an emergency operating license for hazardous waste management activities that will minimize such endangerment. Military operations at Camp Grayling have resulted in the accumulation of unserviceable ordnance, involving explosives and large and small ammunition, which is considered hazardous waste due to its characteristic of reactivity. Due to the highly unstable and reactive nature of these wastes, and because the wastes cannot be safely transported to a licensed off-site treatment facility, the MDNR has determined that the unserviceable ordnance poses an imminent and substantial endangerment to human health and the environment, and therefore intends to allow the treatment of the wastes on-site.

The emergency operating license authorizes the open burning and open detonation of approximately 12,000 pounds (explosive weight) of unserviceable ordnance. Treatment will occur at the area known as Range 13 at the Camp Grayling Military Reservation, and will be conducted by trained military personnel. The effective date of the license is November 27, 1989, and the license shall expire on February 24, 1990.

Copies of the emergency operating license may be reviewed at the MDNR Waste Management Division Lansing Office located at 608 West Allegan Street in Lansing, Michigan, and at the Region II Headquarters located at 8717 North Roscommon Road in Roscommon, Michigan.

Rantz Peters won the Bill Burrick creation for the smallest buck.

Milltown Feed and Grain gave a $50 gift certificate each day for the hunter hanging the buck with the largest rack.

"The Buck Pole is always a fun project," said Gall. "It's hard work but the outcome is worth the effort." Gall said she really appreciated the help of Connie Swander and John Alef, Jr., who helped her brother, Orlin Lucksted, weigh and hang the bucks.

Proceeds of the contest will be donated to the Grayling Chamber of Commerce. In past years this donation has been approximately $1,000 and Gall anticipates that it will be at least that amount this year.

YEA! SNOW! — Thursday's snowstorm may have slowed down Crawford County's adults, both pedestrians and drivers, but the children at the Grayling Elementary School thoroughly enjoyed the first snowfall of the winter.

Citizens Offer Reward for Info On Missing Pets

Some local pet owners have joined together to offer a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for several missing pets in the area. The owners believe their pets, mostly cats, were taken recently.

Anyone with information can call the Crawford County Sheriff Dept. which has started an investigation into the missing pets.

Notice of Public Meeting

The Department of Natural Resources (DNR) will hold a public meeting on November 29 at 7 p.m. in the Bear Lake Township Hall, Kalkaska County, for the purpose of receiving public comment on the 1984 Use Agreement with the Department of Military Affairs (DMA). The Use Agreement allows military training without live ammunition on lands administered by the DNR.

The Use Agreement requires an annual meeting between the DNR and DMA to discuss areas of concern and future troop plans and calls for written responses to items raised. In preparation for this meeting the DNR is seeking comments from the public to be used in the annual meeting. Comments must be confined to the 1984 Use Agreement.

A Look At Our Past

23 YEARS AGO
November 17, 1966
Officer Candidate Joseph A. LaGrow, son of Mr. and Mrs. William LaGrow, obtained senior status at the Signal Officer Candidate School at Ft. Gordon, GA on October 29, 1966. He had completed 18 weeks of training and was to graduate on December 1, and receive a commission as a 2nd Lt. in the U.S. Army Signal Corps.

Grayling rolled out the 'red carpet' for all the 'red coats' hunting for deer in Crawford County. The Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce coordinated the various activities planned for opening weekend. To help the downstate and outstate hunters, the Chamber set up a Mobile Office on the corner of Michigan and Cedar. The Chamber offered over $155 in prizes for their Buck Pole Contest.

The Grayling High basketball team under their new coach, Tom St. Germain, former Pellston Hornet mentor, were hard at work preparing for their opening game of the 1966-67 cage season.

Selected for the varsity squad were: Dave Bailey, Steve DuBois, Frank Hinkle, Barry Holmes, Steve LaGrow, Dane Madsen, LeRoy Neal, Dave Nethers, Dale Slusser, Pat Thompson, Jim Weaver and Doug Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Millikin took their daughter Kathy to Saginaw for examination. As a result, Kathy was taken to St. Luke's Hospital for surgery on her leg.

'Never before so many innovations in one year!' states the opening headline of the 1967 Bear Archery Company catalog. The new 32-page booklet, illustrated with full-color artwork, featured the all-new Bear target and tournament line of bows.

A local car dealership was advertising a 1966 demonstrator Galaxie tudor hardtop, 289-200 h.p., V-8, Nitemist blue with white vinyl top, Crusomatic, all vinyl interior, 8:15 x 15 whitewalls, power steering, radio with rear seat speaker. Deluxe seat belts, tinted windshield, visibility group with less than 5,000 miles. Delivered price: $2,719.10.

Glen's Market was featuring hen and tom turkeys for $3.99 per pound, pork steak for $.55 per pound and center cut round steak for $.69 per pound. Customers could purchase Kraft Miniature Marshmallows for $.19 a 10 1/2 oz. bag, Del Monte whole kernel corn 2 for $.39 and a big roll of Scott Towels for $.35.

46 YEARS AGO
November 18, 1943
Light snowfall over the last of the weekend prepared an ideal setting for the deer hunting season. Tracking was just right and it only remained for Monday morning to start the hunt in real earnest. By that time Northern Michigan was entertaining just about as large an army of deer hunters as it had ever had.

Attorney James E. Ryan is in receipt of an opinion of Circuit Judge Shaffer whereby the court cancelled an oil and gas lease on the property of C. H. Lintz and wife, owners of the South Branch Ranch.

The lease was originally given for five years to E. E. Johnston of Saginaw, who erected a drilling rig but did not follow up with drilling of the well. Later Johnston assigned the lease to Dorothy Bolester, Trustee and the well was commenced but after drilling 800 feet no further drilling was done. No rentals were paid to the Lintzs after the derrick was erected. It was practically admitted that the lease was in default but they claimed the Lintzs had signed a waiver. The court held there was no consideration for the waiver, and held same void. This opinion releases some 1300 acres from the lease.

OPA announces a man can eat meat raised on his own premises, but the critter must be born on the premises and live on the place for at least 60 days before being slaughtered, and that the animal must show a gain in weight of at least 35 per cent. In addition to all this, the fellow who owns the pig or other animal must live on the farm for at least six months of the year and must give his personal attention to the raising of the animal he seeks to slaughter and eat without giving up points. It is not stated in the new regulations what would happen if the mother pig or cow happened to wander into the neighbor's pasture and give birth to her young.

Chester Lozon of Maple Forest filled his license the first day of deer hunting.

Pfc. Junior E. Palmer who was here on furlough for a few days to enjoy deer hunting was lucky to bag a seven point buck on the second day of the season. He is returning today to Scotts Field, Ill., where he recently graduated as a radio technician. His mother Mrs. S. D. Palmer too was lucky filling her license on the opening day, with a four-pointer.

Charles Moshier and Robert Papendick were sent to Camp Ward, Farragut, Idaho, instead of Great Lakes Naval Station as was stated in last week's issue of the Avalanche. A letter from Bob says that he likes it there very much.

69 YEARS AGO
November 18, 1920
The Women's Club and Goodfellowship Club sponsored a reception for the teachers at the High School gymnasium Friday evening and the following program was given: piano trio, Mrs. M. W. Smith, Mrs. O. W. Hanson and Miss Bauman. Reading, Mrs. VanTyle, Bay City, Quartette, Miss Parr, Miss Thomson, Miss Wescott, Miss Boody with Miss Abbott accompanist.

Deer season opened last Saturday. The tracking snow was ideal. The county clerk issued over 600 licenses from Friday to Saturday night.

An epidemic of diphtheria has closed the Gaylord schools.

The Chris King family is quarantined with smallpox. Mrs. King being ill with the disease.

Albert and Edward Gierke of Detroit are spending several weeks here as guests of their brother, Adam Gierke. Monday morning the former filled his license by bagging a deer.

Miss Bernadette Cassidy left Thursday for Grand Rapids to take a position in the offices of the American Express Co. For the past three years Miss Cassidy has been a bookkeeper at the local bank.

Fred Carr was struck by a piece of edging while operating the edging machine at the band mill, Tuesday and was severely injured. His lower jaw was broken in two places. He is in Mercy Hospital getting along nicely.

The Kerry and Hanson Flooring mill was closed all day Saturday, as so many of their employees wanted to take advantage of the first day of hunting season.

Floyd McClain is back at his old job clerking in the Olaf Sorenson and Son's store, taking the place of Reuben Bebb.

SPORTS FANS!

I Bet You Didn't Know

Brought To You
By Bob White
Sales Representative

Here's a basketball story that's hard to believe, but it's true...The man who was once voted the greatest basketball player in history was so awkward and clumsy as a youngster that no one wanted him on their team - and he was so little thought of, that many colleges wouldn't give him an athletic scholarship... But he wound up at DePaul University - and, amazingly, he turned into the basketball player who was voted the best of all-time in the Associated Press mid-century poll in 1950... That player was George Mikan.

One of the strangest bouts in boxing history took place in Newark, N.J., in 1948 between welterweights Mike DeCusmo and Laurie Buxton... The 2 fighters were swinging away at each other when the bell sounded, ending the 10th and final round... The referee stepped between them, trying to stop the fight, but the boxers, apparently never hearing the bell, kept swinging. They both simultaneously hit the referee and knocked him out... The fight ended with the 2 boxers on their feet and the referee lying on the canvas!

I bet you didn't know...that Bob White can offer you a championship deal on your next car or truck. Don't let the great buys pass you by, see Bob today!

Verse or Worse

Morning At Dawson's

We meet at Dawson's in the morning
Where Betsy serves our coffee right
There's a lot of conversation
About what's happened in our town overnight

Burnis and Ethel buy some lotto tickets
Trying to Fame and Fortune win
But we know they have no chance
When Lady Agnes comes in

Lady Agnes buys some tickets
Seems she always gets a winner
I decide to try my luck
But my wallet just gets thinner

Then Bob Cinciala comes in he always wins
Marlene is there with her friendly smile
Dee tries to have his coffee
But he's busy all the while

Mayor Bob comes in wearing a grin
For his morning cup and a ticket or two
Is he there just to greet the folks
Or is he keeping an eye on the city crew?

Friendly smiles from friendly folks
Are a great way to start your day
Somehow you feel much better
As you travel on your way

So why not stop in at Dawson's
And greet the folks that gather there?
They will greet you with a smile
For they're the kind of folks that care

Social Security

While most adults who draw Social Security are able to manage their own benefits, some beneficiaries are paid through another person who acts as a representative payee.

A representative payee is someone appointed by Social Security to receive and use payments for the well-being of a beneficiary who is unable to manage benefits because of mental or physical impairments.

Once it has been determined that an adult needs a payee, the Agency tries to find the most qualified person for the task. The preferred payee is a relative who lives with the beneficiary. If none can be found, a friend who shows strong concern for the beneficiary, an organization, institution, or other qualified person may be appointed.

Social Security exercises the utmost concern in choosing the best payee. Beneficiaries who need a payee are further protected because Social Security requires payees to file yearly reports showing how benefits were used.

For more information about representative payees, call Social Security at 800-234-5544. The Traverse City Social Security office is located at 1111 E. Front Street, Traverse City.

A representative is at the County Building in Grayling on the first and third Tuesday of each month, 10:30 - 2:00. There is no phone service at this location. Callers should use the toll-free number.

The Bible Speaks

The Gospel of John Part 105

An Ideal Roman Trial?

Following the religious trial by the Jews in which Christ was condemned to death, our Lord was presented to the Roman court for execution. The first step in a Roman trial was the formal indictment. "Pilate then went out unto them, and said, 'What accusation bring ye against this man?'" The Jews in turn requested Jesus Christ be tried without a formal indictment because they had already tried Him. "They answered and said unto him, 'If he were not a malefactor, we would not have delivered him up unto thee.'" (John 18:30).

Next followed the examination of and defense of the accused.

"Then Pilate entered into the judgment hall again, and called Jesus, and said unto him, Art thou the King of the Jews?" (John 18:33).

He was prophesied to be such in Isaiah 9:6,7. He fulfilled such prophecy as Zechariah 9:9, and Nathanael had declared Him to be the King of Israel in John 1:49.

Then Jesus clarified this question by Pilate in John 18:34, 35: "Jesus answered him, Sayest thou this thing of thyself, or did others tell it thee of me? Pilate answered, Am I a Jew? Thine own nation and chief priests have delivered thee unto me: what hast thou done?" Jesus simply asked Pilate if he was raising the question from a Jewish or Roman perspective, and Pilate made clear his position.

Finally, Jesus answered the question of his kingship for that time. "My kingdom is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, they would have fought, that I should not be delivered to the Jews: but now is my kingdom not from hence." (John 18:36). Jesus made a clear distinction between His "spiritual" kingdom then, as contrasted to the charges He was trying to build a "physical earthly" kingdom at that time.

Pilate then questions Christ about His kingdom. "Pilate therefore said unto him, Art thou a king, then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a king. To this end was I born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. Everyone that is of the truth heareth my voice. Pilate saith unto him, What is truth?" (John 18:37-38a). Jesus was king from heaven and truth personified, yet Pilate recognized Him not.

Then came the verdict: "And when he had said this, he went out again unto the Jews, and saith unto them, I find in him no fault at all." (John 18:38b). He was found innocent.

Then why did Jesus Christ die? He died as a sinless substitute for your sins and mine. "For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him." (2 Cor. 5:21). Have you trusted Him as your savior and God? (Hear "The Bible Speaks" at 12:15 p.m. Tuesday on WQON 100 FM).

CHURCH DIRECTORY

LET US GIVE THANKS...

Once again Thanksgiving draws near. It is a reminder of the first event after the Pilgrims survived the bleak and bitter cold of their winter in New England. It is a scene made famous in the familiar painting of a Pilgrim family, dressed in their stiff starched clothes and conical hats, being safely guarded by the father with his huge blunderbuss as they trudged through the snow to attend church... to give thanks.

In the spirit of that past Thanksgiving as we gather together to celebrate the many blessings to be shared with our family and friends, let us all offer a prayer of grace for a happy harvest of joys past, present, and future.
